Fun for Fall

This August we were able to see our signature playground piece installed thanks to the many who worked hard to advocate for our children of OSV. We are proud of this piece and the improvement it made to our playground. Currently, we have been able to purchase new swings, picnic table, benches and pavers to enhance the appearance of our playground and make it more user friendly for both parents and children. We will work to continue to made improvements and renovations to our playground.

Our goal is to strive for a safe playground that everyone can enjoy!

Fun at the 2021 Fourth of July Golf Cart Parade

This year's golf cart parade had 60 golf carts and 15 bicycles all decorated in a patriotic theme. It was a beautiful site to see all the red, white and blue. Miriam Gaskins, our Oceanside Village Property Manager, was our Grand Marshall. This year we had a golf cart as the lead and it was all decorated in red, white and blue and driven by Rick Power accompanied by Carol Botkins.

The Poker Run Returns!

After eighteen months of activities being suspended, the Oceanside Village Golf Cart Poker Run was held on Sunday, August 8th. The weather was perfect and a one-time special of buy one sheet get one free brought out a great turnout. Everyone had a great time trying to make a winning poker hand and visiting with fellow villagers. We hope to have other events in the coming months.

Thanks to our hosts for making it so much fun for all!

Memorial Service

On Saturday, August 28th, a memorial service was held on the Oceanside Village ball field. While candles were distributed and illuminated, music was provided by Gary McCormick.

The Reverend Jeff Wood read the names of 36 friends, relatives, and loved ones with ties to Oceanside Village, while a bell was tolled to note each of their passings by Milt Cutway. These are people who we had lost during the pandemic.

The evening ended with those in attendance singing a beautiful, moving rendition of “Amazing Grace”.

The Oceanside Village Golf Group

The OSV Golf Group enjoyed their annual picnic for players and their spouses on September 8th in the Activities Center. The menu included burgers, dogs and brats with delicious sides prepared by the spouses (or in some cases, by the golfers!).

Miriam Gaskins was a special guest who was awarded a plaque of appreciation for the long time support by Miriam and OSV. The late Carl Blake initiated the picnic tradition several years ago.

Oceanside Village Golf

Dodie Belski started the OSV Ladies Golf group in the 1980s and included many of our "Snowbirds". After Dodie's death, Anne Blake coordinated it until her death last year. Now, Thereasa Barilaro, with help from Gayle Henderson, keeps it going.

We play 9 holes every Monday morning at Tupelo Bay at 9 a.m. in the Winter and 8:30 a.m. in the hot summer. All ladies are welcome.

To be part of the group you must know how to play, have clubs and want to get out with others. We play "Ready Golf", pick-up at double par, don't hunt for balls and at times don't keep score. We don't have set teams. We will need your name, phone number and email address. Hope to see some new faces this year!

If interested please contact Thereasa Barilaro at 724-575-2427, email barilaro304@comcast.net or Gayle Henderson at 843-215-1895, email gghenderson2@sc.rr.com.

June Folluo: One Remarkable Life

by Josie Harper

Get ready to have your preconceived notions about 90-year-olds shattered when you meet June Folluo. Unlike many in her age category, she's attractive, has the tall stature and figure of a teenager, and is sharp as a tack. She greets us with a smile as we sit down in her home on Kingfisher, ready to hear her life story. And what a story it is.

It begins when she met Chuck Folluo in 1963. At first, she says, she had trouble pronouncing his name. So when they went out to dinner, he would write it down on a napkin and slowly pronounce it. At that time Chuck was an Army Captain. June didn't know anything about the various Army ranks, but she quickly learned as Chuck rose from Captain to Major to Lt. Colonel and finally to full Colonel. For June, it's her life as the wife of a career Army officer that's most significant. In the ten years Chuck was on short assignments, the couple lived all over the globe, traveling throughout Europe and Asia. They were in Germany, Austria, Budapest, Switzerland, Spain, Italy, Portugal, Egypt (Cairo), Korea, Morocco (Casablanca), and Japan. "We took boat rides on the Danube and a wagon ride drawn by gypsies in Budapest. All moves were good," she says—a comment that reflects her smiling, positive attitude. Chuck also served in Viet Nam. June even has a picture of the couple taken with President Truman when they attended a White House dinner.

But one of June's favorite memories was a trip the couple later took to Paris to celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary.

When Chuck and his fellow officers moved up in rank, the custom was to have a celebratory dinner. Conceding that she was not noted for her culinary skills, June called on her mother to provide the meal. After her mother died, June turned to a close friend for help. She admitted that long cocktail hours made the dinners taste a lot better.

As an Army wife, June volunteered wherever there was a need. She is proudest of her volunteer work with the Arlington Ladies. It's a group of women who attend funerals of Army men being buried in Arlington National Cemetery to ensure that not a one will be buried without someone in attendance. When Chuck died in March of 2016, he was buried there with full military honors.

After their children were in school, June also worked full time as a receptionist in the office of USA Today and part time as a ticket agent for US Air.

When the couple was home in Fairfax, Virginia, they often took off on a Thursday and flew to New York for a long weekend of fun. There they saw plays (like Cats), took carriage rides through Central Park, and ate at the Tavern on the Green, one of June's favorite restaurants.

Both June and Chuck were only children, so their immediate family is small. But they have three daughters: Candy Watts, Connie Luptak, and Cindy Folluo. Connie and Cindy have no children, but Candy has a son and daughter. Candy's daughter has a daughter whose son hopes to follow in his great granddad's military footsteps by becoming a Marine. Connie lives in Shelby, NC; Candy lives in Virginia; and Cindy lives in Virginia with her mother. All three girls keep close tabs on their mother.

June's time is now spent between Fairfax, Virginia, and Oceanside Village. Her Fairfax home is a five bedroom house large enough for a baby grand piano, plus it has an outdoor swimming pool. In the garage you'll find a 1915 Model-T Ford and a vintage Miata. Cindy looks after things when her mother is away.

So how did June and Chuck find Oceanside Village? It was because they were friends with four families who vacationed here. On one trip in 2004 they met Laura Bunts, an OSV real estate agent, and before they knew it they had bought a home. Chuck chose the one on Kingfisher because it was near the beach. Some of those first friends are still June's good friends and neighbors. She mentions Rick and Joyce Whitehead and Fred and Diane Thompson, in particular. When June flies down from Virginia, one of her neighbors picks her up from the airport and then takes her back when she goes home. They also look after her house while she is away. When June is here in OSV she enjoys walking on the beach. And she rides through the village on a bright yellow three-wheel bike that Candy gave her for Mother's Day. June's pleasure in physical activity dates back to her childhood in St. Louis, Missouri, where she often roller skated in an indoor rink and was a high school drum majorette.

Unfortunately, June recently fell when she was in Virginia and broke two ribs. But that hasn't seemed to slow her down. She still enjoys riding her bike, participating in chair exercises, playing Bunco, and meeting friends for dinner.

Indeed, June Folluo is a remarkable woman; one who has lived a truly remarkable life.

Oceanside Village Wildlife and Waterfowl Update

It has been a very busy spring and summer season! Lots of new babies arriving, along with lots of happy vacationers. Glad to see everyone out and about, waving, smiling, walking, jogging, biking, playing, and heading to our beautiful beach!!!

It's always such a tremendous joy watching the nesting process begin, then spotting eggs in a nest from a distance, and, then, watching the hatchlings and their first swims with mom and dad! It's a miracle to witness every season. I find incredible joy driving around waiting and watching for each little miracle to hatch and take his/her first swim! Yes, to say I am passionate about these creatures, is an understatement. I love, adore, and try to protect each and every one of them.

Hi, my name is Michele Timmons. I am a full time owner here in Oceanside Village. I am proud to be a part of this incredible neighborhood, with so many volunteers, friends, concerned homeowners, neighborhood watch, activities, the beach, the pools, and so much more! I rescue wildlife and waterfowl creatures here in OSV, and along the eastern side of Horry and Georgetown Counties.

If an animal is in need of care, I will rescue them and deliver them to Carolina Wildlife Rehabilitation Center (CWRC). Kimberly Cerimele is the Executive Director, and Rehabber of CWRC. Kimberly's contact information is available at the bottom of this letter. I am ONLY a rescue volunteer. I do this because I care about the animals. I receive no money for my time involved in rescue. I do, accept donations of old towels, because they are essential in transport and comfort of animal rescues.

Some of the MANY animals that have been rescued in Oceanside Village just this spring/summer season include the following: multiple, multiple swans, egrets, mallards, anhinga, cormorants, herons, a baby seagull, multiple geese, a mourning dove, infant squirrels, a turtle, a wood stork and a cooper hawk. IF humans were more cautious and careful, NONE of these animals would have required rescue and rehabilitation (except the cooper hawk who flew into a glass door). Several did not survive. Most did survive and, after extensive AND expensive rehabilitation; most have been released back into Oceanside Village. Typical injuries include, hit by vehicles, (golf carts included), several swans were harmed, harassed and abused by vacationing teens, including large hard rocks thrown at them, and the rest of ALL involved injuries come from hooks, fishing line and lures. The photos above include a cooper hawk, which flew into a glass door, a cormorant with a treble hook stuck in his foot, and, a swan with a fishing hook entwined in her neck.

Turtles:

I have found multiple turtles this year covered in paint! First of all, they are not ‘toys’, should not be netted out by children, and should NEVER be ‘painted’ with nail polish or any type of paint. Turtles live, breathe, and feel no different than humans. The paint can be absorbed through their shells, causing them illness. Additionally, their shells help camouflage them, blocks UVB/A rays, and helps them live safely in their natural habitat. Please educate your visitors, and grandchildren, and renters to treat turtles kindly, as they are not toys.

Ways to help reduce algae, protect waterfowl and wildlife:

Educate people fishing; ask them to make sure they take a moment to clean up their lines, hooks and lures. Additionally, if you find those items, or plastic, or trash, do the community a favor, save maintenance’s time, and just pick it up and toss in the many provided trash facilities. DO NOT FEED BREAD!!!! Bread is not good or healthy for the animals or the waters! Should you choose to feed; cracked corn, Mazuri waterfowl food, frozen or canned peas or corn are healthy, safer options. Please understand, if you live on or near water, the animals have just as much a home here as you, and they should not be mistreated, harassed or harmed deliberately.

I can be reached at any hour for a rescue, if you see an injured animal, at 703-297-6070. Or, you may call OSV security, the main office, or my director. I will do all I can to save an injured animal and get him/her into the loving care and the rehabber arms of my director, Kimberly Cerimele, Executive Director/Rehabber, Carolina Wildlife Rehabilitation Center. 919-605-6185, Myrtle Beach, SC. www.cwrcwildlife.org FB – Carolina Wildlife Rehabilitation Center.

The South Strand Lions

by Sandra Barbour

South Strand Lions, part of Lions International, serves the local community through service projects and fundraising activities to provide financial support for local agencies as well. South Strand Lions recently received the District 32-C Award for Best Hands on Service Projects, made possible by the support of Oceanside Village residents. Continuing service activities include food collection and volunteer hours for Shepherd of the Sea Food Bank, Christmas stockings for nursing home residents, Spring Tide Cleanup in Murrells Inlet, Blue Star Mothers Wreath Campaign for veterans' grave sites, support for Leader Dogs and much more.

Lions have supported sight/vision services since the founding of Lionism in 1917. South Strand Lions conduct vision screenings in local elementary schools (pending COVID protocols) and purchase eye exams and glasses for qualified applicants in need.

Planning for 2021-22 has begun with continued emphasis on vision and new challenges from Lions International to support pediatric cancer patients and children with diabetes. We are researching ways to support Happy Wheels at MUSC Jenkins Children's Hospital. Happy Wheels provides a weekly cart tour through the children's cancer center to provide toys, games, puzzles for the children to select, enjoy and take home. Camp Air Waves and Seven Seas is a Myrtle Beach camp for diabetic or asthmatic kids to enjoy organized fun and educational activities in a safe environment.

Spring Tide Cleanup Volunteers

In August, hundreds of school supplies for Help-4Kids were collected in OSV.

Fundraising activities in the coming year include broom sales (Lion's brooms are the best!), the Winter Charity Dance and the Spring Charity Golf Tournament.

Packing Boxes for the Food Bank

Lions stay busy in service; several OSV residents are active Lions. Annie Cutway will co-chair the dance; Steve Barbour chairs the Membership Committee and serves on the Golf Tournament Committee and his wife, Sandra, coordinates vision screenings. Milt Cutway coordinates the collection of donated eyeglasses. Brooms can be ordered by contacting OSV Lions Annie and Milt Cutway, Lawson Auld (our newest Lion) or Steve and Sandra Barbour. Lawson and his wife Mary Ellen have generously supported Lions before he became a Lion to serve the community.
